

Professionals That Care

For our staff, true human service is not just service for the paycheck. It's about passion and self-fulfillment.

Healing Springs Med-Care LLC is well-experienced in the field of home health care. After years of working in the home health care field, I became very disappointed with the ways seniors and individuals with developmental and physical challenges were being cared for; I decided to start a home health care agency that would change the way special need individuals and seniors are treated. Our agency has well – trained home health aides with an abundance of experience and compassion. We train our staff to help our clients reach their highest level of functional independence. To our team members, this is not just another job but a passion.
